THE READING NOOK

2020 Mysteries and Thrillers

I don't know how many mysteries revolve around an art restoration project, but Diane Chamberlain's Big Lies in a Small Town makes the case that more should. Here artistic Morgan gets an early release from prison under the condition that she'll restore a mural in the post office of a small town. When Morgan realizes that the mural tells the story of a crime that goes back decades, she's drawn into a mystery that involves the entire town.

Djinn Patrol to the End of the Line by Deepa Anappara takes us deep into the heart of a huge Indian city and centers around three small children who begin to investigate the disappearance of a classmate. Initially, their search feels more like play, but when more children start disappearing, the fun stops, and the real mystery begins.

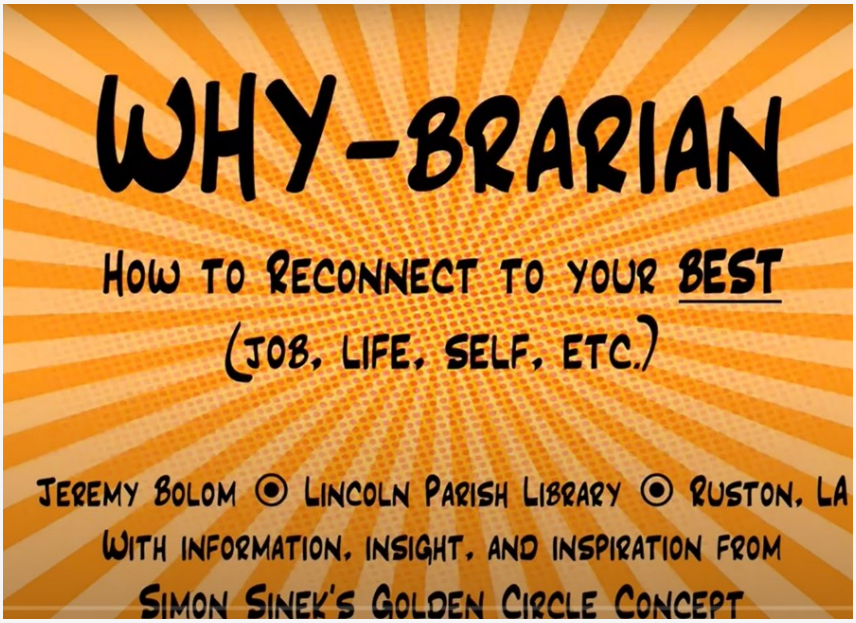
YouTube Video of the Month



Jeremy Bolom presents a webinar on reconnecting to your best librarian self in WHY-brarian. We have probably all experienced burn-out, a lack of inspiration and motivation, or even a loss of connection between our work and the organizations we represent. Do you know why? The solution is simple, but it's not always the easiest one to acknowledge, especially when the everyday often gets in the way. With inspiration from the WHY (Golden Circle) principle developed by Simon Sinek, reconnect with your inner WHY-brarian and the spark he/she can ignite for you.

ND Library Tidbits
