Aboutbookbinding.com

<http://www.aboutbookbinding.com/>

Online full text books on binding, including The Art of Bookbinding by Joseph W. Zaehnsdorf, Bookbinding and the Care of Books: a Handbook for Amateurs, Bookbinders, & Librarians by Douglas Cockerell, Bookbinding for Beginners by Florence O. Bean, The Story of Books by Gertrude Buford Rawlings, and The Story of Paper-making: an account of paper-making from its earliest known record down to the present time by J.W. Butler Paper Company. While the information herein is not overly contemporary, as these are all works that have fallen into the public domain, it remains an informative history.

American Institute for the Conservation of Historic and Artistic Works

<http://aic.stanford.edu/index.html>

This site has information relevant to book preservation, though its focus is much broader than simply paper, vellum, and leather materials.

AIC Code of Ethics and Guidelines for Practice

<http://aic.stanford.edu/about/coredocs/coe/index.html>

These are nice to know and worth thinking about, even if adhering to them isn't always a viable option.

Vast full-text resource of conservation information put together by the Preservation Dept. of Stanford University Libraries.

Guild of Book Workers

<http://palimpsest.stanford.edu/byorg/gbw/>

Includes their archived newsletter and information about the Guild, for those who are serious about conservation.

Indiana University E. Lingle Craig Perservation Laboratory Repair and Enclosure Treatments Manual

<http://www.indiana.edu/~libpres/manual/manfront.html>

A lavishly illustrated and detailed step-by-step procedural manual to repair and enclosure treatments for circulating library collections. Comprehensive and user friendly.

Library Binding Institute

<http://www.lbibinders.org/>

This site provides information on library binding practices, including a .pdf of the ANSI approved standards of library binding and a PowerPoint review of the last eighty years of binding practices. It is also a valuable informational resource on available binding services.

Library of Congress's directory of information on preservation

<http://www.loc.gov/preserv/>

Includes general and far more rarefied information (for instance, the preservation of baseball cards) on the care of library materials.

Northeast Document Conservation Center's Preservation Leaflets

<http://www.nedcc.org/resources/leaflets/introduction.php>

This is a great collection of library preservation information, kept up-to-date online. Previously published in print as Preservation of Library & Archival Materials: a Manual, 3rd ed.

Regional Alliance for Preservation

<http://rap-arcc.org/>

This site has resources on preservation and conservation as well as information on services available throughout the United States.
