State Library Volunteer Event

At the annual Volunteer Recognition Event, volunteers had the pleasure and opportunity to meet Lauraine Snelling. Lauraine is one of the most popular authors with patrons and volunteer narrators enjoy recording her books, so, it seemed only fitting to invite Lauraine to be the guest speaker.

The event was held on Friday evening, May 18, at Trinity Lutheran Community Center. The celebration was well attended and well received. Her program was titled, "The Story Behind the Story," where she shared that behind each of her books is her own personal story or connection. Barnes and Noble sold her books at the event and Lauraine held a book signing.

Volunteers contributed a total of 4,297.25 hours to the State Library between April 2006 and March 2007. Volunteers receiving recognition for the hours they accumulated over the years were: 300 hours – Dick Smith, Victor Lemke, Cheryl Bailey, and Jan Bond; 750 hours – Gerry MacMartin; 1000 hours – Diane Weber; and 1500 hours – Arlene Olson and Eva Braun.

The State Library is very grateful for the time and work that volunteers give to help make the Talking Books and DRIS programs successful.

DRIS Booth Remodeled

Before

Spring is the time for renewal, and the North Dakota Lions Club did just that for DRIS by remodeling the recording booth. The Bismarck Lions Club headed the project and did a beautiful job of completely refurbishing the booth. A new ventilation system was installed, painting was done, new paneling applied, trim added, and additional sound insulation and new carpet were installed. A new plaque was mounted, indicating the booth is "Another Project of the Lions of North Dakota."

After

Bismarck Lions Club members who worked on the project were Oscar Blaskowski, Karl Venneberg, Bob Ebbesen, Bruce Schwartz, and Jenny Yearous. The State Library is grateful for their hard work, time, and funding of this project.

A Few Words About...Books in Series

A common concern with patrons is that they often have to read books in a series out of sequential order. Currently, the version of the database that's used to service customers does not allow for reserving books in a series so that they may be delivered in sequential order. There are generally two types of books in a series: one that follows a main storyline and one that seems to follow a certain character or characters. It is often the series of books that follow a single, main storyline or a developing theme that must be read in sequential order or the reader will miss critical information to the story. Series of books that follow a certain character or characters can sometimes be read out of sequential order because each book represents a different event in a character's life. If you feel as though you have received a book that is part of a series that must be read in sequence, please call Talking Books at 1-800-843-9948 or 701-328-1408 to see if the previous titles are available. Keep in mind that some of the early titles in a series may be quite old and difficult to acquire because of damage or condition of the book.

On the Shelf ND 00022 Mostly Amusing, Always Amazing True Memories: North Dakota Seniors Tell Their Stories Author: Everett C. Albers Ninety-six North Dakota seniors, 50-something to almost 100-years-old, responded to the Governor's Committee on Aging contest to tell the amusing incidents from the past they most remembered. The authors remember hunting skunks, learning to drive with a Model-T Ford, and Christmas memories. Among the tales told are such titles as "Honeymooning on the Farm," "Halloween Humor," "Buy Mother's Basket," and "She Thought She Pulled Off Kitty's Tail." 1996. ND 00046 Persian Pickle Club Author: Sandra Dallas As the crops wither without rain, members of the "Persian Pickle Club" keep up their spirits by swapping gossip and fabric scraps while quilting. The bonds among the "stitch and itch" ladies are tested when a newcomer investigates a murder in the small Kansas town of the 1930s. 1995. ND 00056 The Little White Schoolhouse on the Prairie. Frequently Asked Questions

- Q: Where can I find more information about the new digital talking book machine?
- A: Visit the National Library Service (NLS) home page at http://www.loc.gov/nls. Here you can find information and pictures of the new digital talking book machine.
- Q: When the new digital talking book machines come out, will I get one right away? How many books will be available?
- A: NLS plans to release some new digital talking book machines in 2008. NLS program recommendations are that veterans who want them be offered the new machines before other patrons. Since 2002, NLS has been digitally recording new books, so that by 2008 when the new machines are released, they expect to have 20,000 titles available for circulation.

Please look around your home and send back any books that you are finished reading.

Timely return of books and materials means others can read the book next without having to wait so long. Overdues were recently sent out; getting your account in good standing will be important in the transition to digital books.

Q: Is it true that digital books will be available for download from NLS?

A: Beginning in 2008, older titles originally produced in digital format by NLS between 2003 and 2007, analog to digital titles, and older RC titles now in digital format will be available for download. The download capability will enable readers with Internet access enrolled in the download program, to obtain digital talking books directly from the NLS Web site.

We Need To Know If You Are A Veteran

With the coming of the new digital machines, the National Library Service recommends that veterans receive priority in the distribution of the digital machines. Your help in notifying the State Library if you are a veteran would be greatly appreciated. Please call 1-800-843-9948 or 701-328-1408.

Always Contact Your Reader Advisor When....

- Your name, address, or telephone number changes.
- · You wish to have your service put on hold.
- You wish to discontinue service.
- · You want to request books, magazines, or descriptive videos.
- · Your machine malfunctions or does not play properly.
- Your books stop coming.
- You have a question about your service.
- · You need information on titles, subjects, or authors.
- You have equipment or books you are not using.

Requesting Books

When requesting books, all that is needed are book numbers from the catalog. You don't have to provide the author or title unless you are unsure of the book's number. The Disability Services staff will be more than happy to check if the title is in the system, or if there is a possibility of adding it.
