FREE MOVIES • FREE MUSIC • FREE E-BOOKS • FREE LANGUAGE LEARNING

Now available through the North Dakota State Library:
Freegal

The North Dakota State Library (NDSL) is pleased to announce the launch of a new resource for public libraries. The Freegal suite includes Freegal Music, Freegal Movies, Freading and Rocket Languages. For each of the modules that allow a certain number of downloads per week, the week runs from Monday to Sunday. Users will login with their library card number and pin. For libraries that do not issue library card numbers or that have a circ system that is incompatible with SIP2 authentication, patrons will need to get a NDSL library card. Please contact your Library Development Specialist if you have questions about this. Kristin Byram, our Public Awareness Coordinator, is developing special marketing materials for those libraries (ndslpa@nd.gov).

Freegal Music allows patrons to download up to 5 songs a week and stream up to 3 hours of music per day. It includes a large catalog of artists and genres of music. Users can login at https://ndgov.freegalmusic.com.

Freegal Movies allows users to view up to 3 movies or TV shows per week. Users have 48 hours to watch their selection via streaming. Once the 48 hours expires, users will have to wait 6 months to watch it again if it's still available in the collection. Users can login at https://ndgov.freegalmovies.com.

Freading allows users to download ebooks. Each ebook in the collection has a token value. Users have 6 tokens to use per week. Freading is compatible with a number of devices and does require an Adobe Digital Editions account. See the FAQ at https://ndgov.freading.com for more information on compatibility and Adobe Digital Editions, as well as to download titles. Users will have access to titles for two weeks, with an option to renew for an additional two week period.

Rocket Languages is an online resource to assist people with learning a new language. Each lesson consists of an opportunity to hear the pronunciation and then test your skills. There are currently 11 languages, including English. Rocket Languages can be accessed at http://www.rocketlanguages.com/?libID=ZTVkMDI1M. Users will have to create an account the first time they visit the site and will need their library card number to do so.

We encourage you to share these links with your patrons and encourage them to take advantage of this new resource. Please share any feedback you or your patrons have with your NDSL Library Development Specialist.

News and Thoughts...

from State Librarian Mary J. Soucie

As we head into the start of another legislative session, it seems a good time to talk again about advocacy. The Merriam Webster dictionary defines advocacy as "the act or process of supporting a cause or proposal; the act or process of advocating something". If you think about it, we all advocate all the time without even realizing it. If you post an article to your Facebook page that takes one side of an issue, that's informal advocating. If you are recommending a book that you really enjoyed to a patron, you're advocating on behalf of the author, you're advocating for reading and love of books and you're advocating for an enjoyable experience for the patron. If you look at advocating through that lens, it's not such a scary thing.

A few months ago, I shared some ideas for advocating at the local level. Hopefully, some of you were able to invite your elected officials to your library to guest read, take a tour, learn about the resources you offer, or to present your Mayor/County Commissioner/Legislator with an honorary library card during Library Card Signup Month or National Library Week.

One of the roles of the State Library is advocating for our libraries: with legislators, with the public, with local elected officials, with people I meet in the grocery store... the list goes on and on. The members of the ND Library Coordinating Council (NDLCC) advocate on behalf of the group they represent. That is why the council is made up of representatives from every kind of library as well as two citizens at large. Library Board members, Advisory Board members, and members of the Friends of the Library are the strongest advocates a local library can have. If your local group would like some tips on advocating, I am more than happy to come and do a presentation for your library or a group of libraries.

As you may know, Governor Dalrymple presented his annual budget address on December 3. His budget will then go to the legislature to approve or amend. We are very pleased with the budget proposal for our agency. In addition to our regular budget requests being recommended, we had two special requests this year. We requested an increase in State Aid for Public Libraries to bring us closer to the statutory formula. The recommendation from the Governor's office includes an additional $366,000 for State Aid for public libraries, which would bring us to full funding. We are very excited about this. In addition, we requested monies to be used to grant to public libraries for building repairs and renovations. There is an additional $250,000 for this pilot program in our proposed budget. We are thrilled with both of these additions to our budget. We will be able to continue to fund Library Vision grants at the same amount as well.

Governor Dalrymple has proposed a plan to renovate and add an addition to our current home, the Liberty Memorial Building, for the Supreme Court to move into. This plan also has to be approved by the legislature in the upcoming session. We do not know where we would be relocated to. We are looking forward to working closely with the Governor's Office, DPI, OMB and Facilities Management to find a new home for the State Library collection, staff and other resources. Should this plan be approved, we are confident that a location would be found that will continue to allow us to provide the high level of service that our libraries, our patrons and the citizens of North Dakota have come to expect from us. We are excited about the opportunity this plan presents to create a new home for the State Library that will serve our needs for many years to come.

Governor Dalrymple continues to recognize the value and importance of libraries and the services they provide to communities of all sizes and types throughout North Dakota. The budget recommendation for our agency is proof that advocacy works and we wish to thank State Superintendent Baesler and Tammy Dolan and Pam Sharp, both from the Office of Management and Budget, for their advocacy for our agency.

2015 ILEAD USA – North Dakota

Innovative Librarians Explore, Apply and Discover

The 21st Century Technology and Leadership Skills Institute for the States

Are you interested in a new initiative to encourage North Dakota library staff to meet 21st century needs with interactive, participatory tools? Do you want to be involved in a project that will develop your leadership and project management skills?

Goal of ILEAD USA

The primary goal of ILEAD USA is to implement a national program that develops the knowledge, skills, and abilities of library staff to understand and respond to user needs through the application of participatory technology tools. The ILEAD USA program will expand the leadership skills of library staff members and increase their ability to address an identified community need.

Who Can Participate?

ILEAD USA is a leadership immersion program for library staff. Anyone who is working in a ND library, whether it's public, school, special, tribal, or academic, can apply to participate. Applicants are not required to have a master's degree in library science, do not need to be well-versed in technological tools, or need to be facile using the latest Web-based technology.

Other library stakeholders—such as school administrators, public library trustees, local government officials, academic staff, etc.—are able to be involved with the ILEAD USA process by serving as community user representatives.

Time Commitment

ILEAD USA - North Dakota participants will actively participate in three mandated in-person sessions over the course of nine months:

- March 23–26, 2015
- June 23-25, 2015
- October 27-29, 2015

During the Intersession periods between the three in-person sessions (April to May 2015 and July to September 2015), each team member will be responsible for participating in online training opportunities that will assist them in the completion of their ILEAD USA – North Dakota team project.

Location

The location for the three in-person 2015 ILEAD USA – North Dakota sessions is the Bismarck Public Library.

Costs

All lodging and meals for the team members during the course of the three in-person sessions will be paid for through the Laura Bush 21st Century Librarian grant. Travel expenses will be reimbursed by NDSL. Participants from smaller libraries may be eligible for money to hire someone to cover the library.

Assemble a Team

Each participant will apply with two to four other ND librarians to form a team of three to five ILEADers. We are eager to see teams that are comprised of library staff from a variety of library types—public, school, academic, special, and tribal.

Application Process

An online application is available for teams to submit at http://ileadusanorthdakota.wordpress.com/. The deadline for applications is January 15, 2015.

Database Training at your School for Students & Teachers

The North Dakota State Library offers FREE in-classroom training for students and workshops for teachers on accessing and using the databases for research.

Students can find reliable, grade-specific, 24/7 information on a wide range of subjects. Trainings are adapted to fit class schedules and multiple sessions can be presented on the same day.

Teacher trainings can be scheduled during an in-service day or as an after school workshop. Databases include teacher tools, citation styles, and content that is aligned to Common Core State Standards.

For more information or to schedule a training session, contact Steve Axtman at the North Dakota State Library: 1-800-472-2104 or saxtman@nd.gov

Digital Horizons continues to add new content

We recently partnered with the Pembina County Historical Society to bring you a snapshot of what the Society has to offer. The new Digital Horizons collection, North Dakota Memories, includes North Dakota items that are scanned from collections not housed at the North Dakota State Library. I have started adding items that I scanned in June from the Pembina County Historical Society museum in Cavalier. A number of new items including the Pioneer Women's Histories have been uploaded. This selection of materials contains biographies of pioneer women in Pembina County that was gathered in the 1930's and 1940's as part of a WPA program. The text is searchable and contains information on the life of the pioneers, genealogy, and history of the towns and settlements. There are also paintings by Pembina County artists, objects, pamphlets, and photographs in the collection.

If you know of a collection that could be part of North Dakota Memories, please contact me-Stephanie Kom at sbaltzer@nd.gov or 701-328-4629. We will provide equipment and training for a period of time and catalog and upload the objects for display on Digital Horizons.

Don't forget about the North Dakota County and Town Histories Collection on Digital Horizons. New books are added every month! These are text searchable digital images. Some of the titles added in November include:

First Lutheran Church, Minot, North Dakota : 1884-1984

Regent reviews, 1910-1985

Larimore, North Dakota : a souvenir (1901)

75th anniversary: Vang American Lutheran Church

Stutsman County in the world war: Jamestown, North Dakota (1919)

Active Shooter Procedure Plan Available to Libraries

The North Dakota State Library has developed a basic Active Shooter procedure for its building. It includes directions for staff on how to respond if such an event occurs. The State Library staff will receive Active Shooter training in January 2015. The procedure document may require updating after the training. If a library would like a copy of the State Library Active Shooter Procedure document, contact your Library Development representative or administration at 1-800-472-2104.

Eligible Service List 2015 Update

Online Library Resource Corner: WorldCat

Your library is not limited to the resources on the shelves. Do you want to watch old TV episodes on DVD? Looking for books that you can't find locally? Need musical scores for an event? Check the world catalog (WorldCat) for items to interlibrary loan. WorldCat is a catalog created and maintained by over 10,000 libraries worldwide. If you can't find it in WorldCat, it is not available for interlibrary loan. WorldCat (FirstSearch) is the subscription version and WorldCat.org is the free public access version. Both versions search the same catalog of over 2 billion items. Search for the needed item and give the citation to your librarian. You might have to wait a few weeks to get what you want, but your access to library items is almost unlimited.
